Since the time when the job of the teacher was established, the system of education has been trying to create its closer and more distant reality by catching up to tasks and challenges posed by external factors and time allowing for evaluation of thought and the concept of tangible and intangible goods. Their presence in our contemporary reality is the result of activities performed by the teacher and other functions in the educational ladder. Owing to their pursuit and the support of the authorities, there exist educational institutions and immaterial assets encompassing currents, directions, concepts, trends, ideologies, the values and impact of each one can find in numerous scientific volumes. They show the uniqueness of scientific works of contemporaries who shaped their theories and practical application into the didactic and educational process by the teacher. Original ideas of key pedagogical projects have been at base of the architecture of the schooling institution able to plan education in many spaces. Both traditionally and in modern education, the school suggests that educational partners engage in learning the knowledge included in the body of subjects applied to a given level. The teacher involves in inspiring and building the engagement of the learners in both individual and group activity. Undoubtedly, during such activity, a number of competences are born which are necessary in certain conditions. They coalesce past, present, and future pedagogical approaches qualitative in typical an atypical situations and to which the educational institution shall find a solution. Perhaps the conference should bring the answer with participants either claiming that the past is like a lamp at the entrance of the future, note as Oscar Wilde that a charm of the past is that it is the past or, as Paulo Coelho, conclude that there is no past, no future, but only now.

We propose that participants consider speaking in one of the following areas:

- 1. Tradition and modernity in the education process
- 2. Accepted and pathological behavior of a teacher, student, parent in school spaces.
- 3. Improving the quality of work of educational institutions in the past and now
- 4. Challenges for education of the future

The conference will be held online. Participation is fee free. Applications should contain personal data, the title of the speech and its short summary and attachment of the GDPR- General Data Protection Regulation form by April 15, 2022 (Application form in a separate file).
